THE POPULIST VIEW

POSITION OF THE PARTY ON FI-NANCE AND HUMAN RIGHTS.

A Kansas Congressman Interviewed-Hepublican Losses Claimed-Uses of Agillation-Evils to Be Abolished-The People's Eyes Opened-Income Tax Benedits.

Washington, July 6 .- [Special.] -were cast and counted in our favor, all the five Populists will come back, and we shall elect our governor by a good majority. You must remember when you are talking about the usual reaction against the party in power in the off year that there can be no reaction against us, and a good deal of what there is against the Democrats will be in our favor."

Views of a Populist.

Thus spoke Hon, Thomas Jefferson Hudson, familiarly known as "Jeff," of the Third Kansas district, in the course of a long and rambling talk about things in general and the evolution of justice from the murder of Abel to the final vote in the senate on the income tax. Some of his reasons for confidence are interesting, as for instance: The Republicans started in by trying to dodge the live questions and flatly refused to take ground on woman suffrage Our folks met that as they did other questions, boldly, and all the progressive wom-en of the state, and most of those in the country are on our side. In fact, the only exception I can think of just now is Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, and the women of our town are so indignant at her that they talk all sorts of terrible things. The silver question is more potent in Kansas than it ever was, and everybody can see that there late concessions on the part of Reed and Lodge and Cameron and that convention of Republican clubs at Denver are only intended to hold the western Republicans over another election."

There is much said about the labor troubles frightening all conservative poople into support of the old parties. What about these strikes?"

Slow, but Sare.

"Hook at that in this way: Every attempt to improve the condition of the laboring class begins with blunders and mistakes of all kinds, and that makes these people who cannot see a yard beyond their noses take fright and go against it. But after the first mistakes and trying again and again something is accomplish ed. Wealth and power are always slipping away from the many to the few, and actual slavery would finally be the result if it were not for constant sgitation. We have to fight all the time in order to even hold our ground, and to gain any ground at all we must have sensons of great struggle. It's a slow job, though -oh, so awfully slow! There was a time when a few lords and nabobs monopolized all the comforts and 99 per cent of the people lived in misery. We have now got up to a point where perhaps 5 per cent and in some cases 10 per cent of the people actually emjoy the full reward of their labors and the benefits of civilization. But it is like the waves rolling up the sand-it seems to roll just as far back, and it takes a long while to wear away the bank. No intelligent Populist hopes that this particular form of the movement will be permanent. It will give way to another and another and another. Take slavery, for instance. It is a great fallacy to say it was abolished. You know perfectly well that south of that river (pointing to the Potomac) there is not one county in 20 where the negro would be allowed to vote if his vote would affect the result. What has the negro gained? Well, he has got the right to marry according to law, and to change his residence, and perhaps a few other things, but his wages do not maintain him even in common decency, saying nothing of comfort. Slavery is about one-third about ished-that is, society has moved up one peg as the result of a hundred years' agitation. That's the way we go, and it's mighty discouraging to the auxious."

Well, what's your programme? Organization of Labor. "Labor is only half organized. The first thing to do is to complete the organization of every branch and get the best possible men at the head of each. Some of the organizations already have splendid leaders, and there are more clear headed and warre hearted men studying the interest of labor now than ever before. Of course we have cranks-I needn't mention their names, for the papers have been full of them lately-but it's perfectly wonderful how many able men we now have. Such writers as Henry George, such orators as Myron Reed and Father McGlynn, and such able or-Mr. Falton also offered the following:
Resolved. By the mayor and councilmen of the city of Topeka, that the sidewalks on east footh avenue, between Kansas avenue and Monroe street, be made the uniform width of eight feet when the same are replaced by new walks. On motion the resolution was adopted.

The following was also offered by Mr. Fulton:
Be it resolved, By the mayor and councilmen of the city of Topeka, that the street commissioner be and hereby is directed to repair the sidewalk in front of lots numbered 367, 364, 868, 388, 379, 372 and north one half of 374 on Quiney street, and belonging to John Rinchle, until such time as the city shall cause the grading therefor to be done.

On motion the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Fulton offered the following:
Resolved, By the mayor and councilmen of the street commissioner be hereby directed to lower the sidewalk in front of lot numbered 148 on Quincy street, at the owners expense.

On motion adopted.

Mr. Fulton offered the following:
Resolved, By the mayor and councilmen of the city of Topeka, that the street commissioner be hereby directed to form and north side of the city building.

On motion offered the following:
Resolved, By the mayor and councilmen of the city of Topeka, that the street commissioner be hereby directed to put in a brick walk in front and north side of the city building.

On motion resolution adopted.

Mr. Fulton offered the following:

directions he has lost heavily. There has been an enormous gain in wealth and in the capacity to produce comfort, but who has got it? That's the point that aggre-

"Now about this congress. It has not been idle at all, as so many are saying. It has done an enormous amount of good work. There is a great deal of fontishing in that senatorial gabble, but just the same the tariff bill is getting through, and it is a good beginning. A beginning is all we can expect of any one congress. The income tax is worth all the rest of it. I do not kick much over the repeal of the Sher-man law—in fact, I begin to think I like it, for it has opened the eyes of the people wonderfully. The appropriations bills wonderfully. The appropriations bills have been put through the house in good shape and three bills for new states which will give us six more broad minded and liberal western senators, if they get through the senate. The bonse has pusself a great many other good measures, and most of them will get through the someto, but the great gain is in what has not been done. There hasn't a bill got through this house that wasn't intended to help the people, and if anything at all has been done to help monopoly it alipped through without our seeing it. It's what we have prevented is our greatest gain. All we need is to toll en and be patient, but than reformers are so dreadfully impatient, and no wonder, for progress is awful, awful
